FCCN is a branch of FCT I.P.. FCCN began its operations in January 1987

Since 1987, with the support of universities and several national R&D institutions, we have contributed to the internet's expansion in Portugal. We plan, manage and operate the national NREN, Science, Technology and Society Network (RCTS) – a high-performance network for organizations with higher communication needs. Given its characteristics, RCTS serves as a platform for developing and testing advanced communication applications and services provided to our community (professors, students, researchers and university staff). FCCN is also involved in several national and international projects.

Bursaries Investiga XXI – Arquivo.pt

Arquivo.pt is an innovative research infrastructure that enables search and access to web pages preserved since 1996. It is an international reference with a significant scientific production.

The main objectives of the Investiga XXI bursaries are to:

- provide training in innovative information technologies that enables more efficient and effective research over data published in the Digital Era;
- establish relations between Arquivo.pt and researchers to potentiate the production of post-bursary scientific results;
- encourage researchers from various scientific fields to meet and take advantage of Arquivo.pt as the main or complementary source of temporal information;
- promote research over XXI century data.
